iMed Design, inc. wins Six National Telly Awards

Reno, NV April 20, 2009 / -- iMed Design, Inc. of Reno, Nevada, announced today that six different productions submitted to the 30th Annual Telly Awards have received national recognition. The winning projects include:

- “Leading the Way” for the American Chemistry Council, Washington, DC
- “Emergency Responders Guide” for CHEMTREC, a division of the American Chemistry Council, Washington, DC
- “2008 Yearbook”, a retail souvenir DVD for Hot August Nights, Reno, NV
- “Hands On Training” TV campaign for Prospect Education, Reno/Anchorage/Washington DC
- “Reno Air Races 2008” TV spot for The Glenn Group, Reno, NV
- “Last Conductor Standing” TV spot for the Reno Philharmonic and Estipona Group, Reno, NV

“Leading the Way,” a corporate overview for the ACC’s CHEMTREC emergency response assistance division, was specially recognized with the Telly’s highest award level.

Andrew Johnson, iMed Design’s president says, “We have received wonderfully positive reviews from our clients about their projects. But to be recognized by our industry peers and the Telly Awards is also very gratifying. It shows that our work stands up in quality and professionalism to the best in the television production industry. We, and our clients, are very proud of this recognition.”
